FERENC BOJAN YOUNG INVESTIGATORS AWARD

Since 1997, EUPHA has installed a Ferenc Bojan lecture/award in memory of the EUPHA president who tragically died from a car accident in Hungary in February 1997.

Ferenc Bojan qualified in medicine from Debrecen, in eastern part of Hungary in 1970 and spent his early professional career in the academic department of hygiene in Debrecen. In 1989 he moved to the Department of Social Medicine, as its head and rapidly recognized the need to address the problems of chronic underfunding and the failure to adopt modern approaches to public health. He strove to ensure that Hungary was integrated into the wider European public health community, taking the Hungarian Society for Public Health into EUPHA and subsequently being elected as EUPHA president. Ferenc Bojan used his period in office to support the expansion of EUPHA to neighbouring countries. Throughout the 1990s, he was an inspiration to and gave much support to those in other parts of this region.

In order to continue the legacy of Ferenc Bojan, the EUPHA Executive Council decided in 1997 to have one session called the 'Ferenc Bojan Memorial Lecture'. After few year it has been transformed in a conference session entitled 'Ferenc Bojan Young Investigators Award'.

Here the five highest scoring abstracts from young professionals (under 35 years) are invited to present their abstract to a small committee. The committee combines abstract with presentation and the winner of the Ferenc Bojan award is announced in the closing session.
